The Indian Rupee depreciated against the U.S. Dollar on Tuesday weighed down by importer buying dollars and an uptick in the dollar index.

The rupee was quoted at 73.42 compared with 73.11 in the previous session. The unit fell 0.4% on Tuesday, its biggest single-session fall since Jun. 19.

Meanwhile, most of the EM and Asian currencies were weak on Tuesday and weighed on sentiments.

The dollar recovered on Tuesday moving further off a near-one-month low hit last week, as rising U.S. Treasury yields prompted investors to cut short dollar positions against the euro before a European Central Bank meeting this week.

The Euro and Sterling ended weaker on Tuesday.
